Dreams Do Come True...

Ibanez since 1930

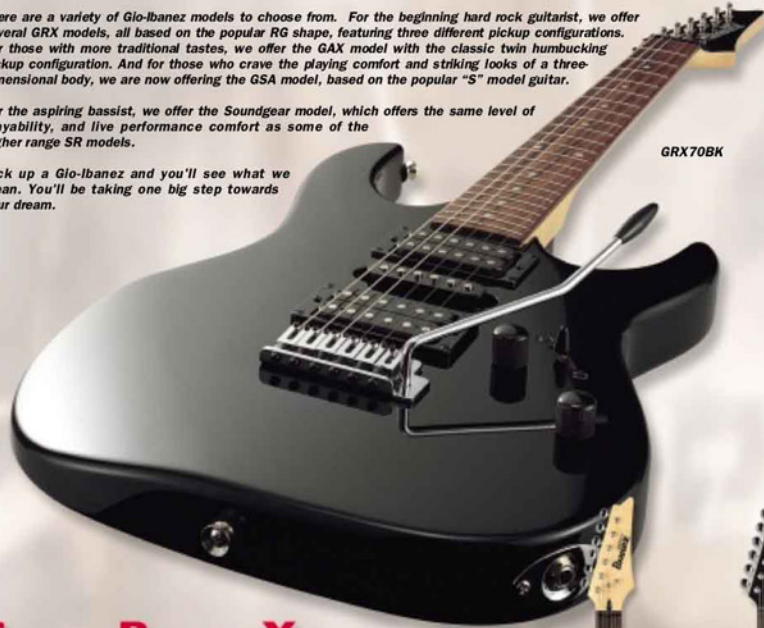

That's why it's so important for aspiring musicians to get off to the right start with high quality beginner instruments. Our line of Gio-Ibanez guitars are designed for kids and adults alike who aspire to become the next Steve Vai or Joe Satriani.

Although affordably priced, the Gio-Ibanez guitars and basses are manufactured under the same strict production standards as the high-end professional Ibanez models in order to provide a level of playability and sound not found in other economically priced instruments.

There are a variety of Gio-Ibanez models to choose from. For the beginning hard rock guitarist, we offer several GRX models, all based on the popular RG shape, featuring three different pickup configurations. For those with more traditional tastes, we offer the GAX model with the classic twin humbucking pickup configuration. And for those who crave the playing comfort and striking looks of a three-dimensional body, we are now offering the GSA model, based on the popular "S" model guitar.

For the aspiring bassist, we offer the Soundgear model, which offers the same level of playability, and live performance comfort as some of the higher range SR models.

Pick up a Gio-Ibanez and you'll see what we mean. You'll be taking one big step towards your dream.

Now you can turn your back on traditional budget guitars that only feature single coils, boring finishes and a bogus name on the headstock. The GRX has humbuckers for solid leads, metallic finishes, and every one is set up to the same stringent standards as our most expensive instruments. That's why it proudly says "Ibanez" and not "by Ibanez" on the headstock.

The GAX is based on our classic Artist, but make no mistake: there's nothing "classic rock" about the AX. With a crystal cut body and high output pickups, the ultra loud GAX was designed for the new generation of heavy players. The GAX produces an assertive cutting edge for modern rhythm work and a lead tone that's powerful without straying into the shred zone.
