For fourteen years, the RG has reigned supreme as the king of heavy rock guitars—despite the constant revolutions in music that deprived less powerful pretenders to the throne. Why? Because when you want pickups that cut through the room, the RG rules. When you need a neck that's thin, flat, and fast, the RG rules.

When you desire a lightweight body with sexy, comfortable contours and cutaways, the RG rules. But when it's time to play, you rule.
