BY TAMA

CT522X

- The Camco CT522X is Tama's latest introduction to the moderately priced drum market. The CT522X features a 7.6mm thick 9-ply shell with the same protective inside Zola-coat finish long used by Swingstar. The sound is clear and powerful with excellent projection.

- Its hardware is designed not only for utility but also for the need of today's modern percussionist of a sharp and distinctive look.

- Probably the most important part of any drum set-up is the double tom holder. Camco's double tom holder affords the drummer a wider range of adjustment than ever before and makes for a quick and effortless set up. The L-rod mounting allows the drum shell to vibrate freely and the result is a rich, sustaining tone.

- A rubber plate inside each lug allows for tuning stability and noise reduction. An original idea from Tama.
